“ Sixty-six years ago, I was the flower girl at Barbara and Bill's wedding. This little five year couldn't have been more excited about such a glamorous, elegant event. St. Mary's Cathedral was the perfect architectural setting for the ultra handsome groom in his white dinner jacket and the beautiful bride in a lace gown with a train! I can see her now coming down the aisle on the arm of her father. Fifty years later, the former wedding party, family and friends gathered to celebrate. Coincidentally, I wore the same shade of green that I wore as a flower girl, Bill wore a white dinner jacket ( and still looked darned handsome) and Barbara ever beautiful wore her wedding gown that still fit! And now they are together-- lovely and devoted. I send my best wishes for peace and comfort to all the Curran family. And please know that they pressed a permanent, loving mark upon the heart of this flower girl.

“ Back in the 70's, I was working with the East High Band Parents. We needed new uniforms and selling fruit didn't garner the funds needed. I suggested we have a garage sale which meant it should be chaired by the suggester, right? The generous amount of donations received was overwhelming and I knew it was not in my expertise, which was 0, so I visited with Barbara at the shop. Bless her heart, she went through bushel baskets full of goodies for the band. She not only told me if they were of any value, but also put a possible asking price on each item. The sale was very successful, and she never once expected any compensation. A truly caring, loving, generous person. The Good Lord is lucky to have her now. My heartfelt condolences to the family. May Barbara rest in peace, Amen.

“ I worked with Barbara many years ago and she was the sweetest woman I have ever worked with! Over the years I had run into her several times and she was just the same. Take comfort in knowing she is with Him, greeted lovingly by Bill, of course.
